The Reserve Bank of Fiji will be issuing a new $2 coin from 3 November 2014 to replace the existing $2 coins. This change is in response to earlier public calls regarding the difficulty experienced in distinguishing between the current $1 and $2 coins.

Larger and Thicker Coin

The new $2 coin will be slightly larger and thicker than the existing $1 and $2 coins whilst being within internationally accepted guidelines of coinage dimensions.

(inside cut) Edge

New Spanish Flower (an inside cut) Edge

The new $2 coin will have a new 'Spanish Flower' (an inside cut) edge which will also serve as an effective differentiating feature for the visually impaired as well as for the general public.

Raised Designs

The designs on both sides have been raised slightly so that these can be easily felt.

New Metal and Colour

The colour of the new $2 coin will be slightly different since a new Multi-ply® Bronze Plated Steel has been used which is expected to delay discoloration, something which has been an issue given Fiji's tropical climate and coin handling practices.
